TREE PLANTING.

It has been but a few years since when, by accident, as it were, the first organization was formed looking toward the protection and cultivation of forest trees, and establishing an organization of forestry. Since then an Arbor Day has been established by many of the States, and the day or tree-planting is looked forward to with as much interest and enthusiasm as any other of what might be termed legal holidays. As a result of what has been done, many of the highways in the East are skirted on either side by forest and fruit trees; many wide prairies are being dotted, here and there by miniature forests, which, in time, as it is claimed, will produce salutary climatic effects.

A few weeks ago, Joaquin Miller made a suggestion which has assumed, so far as California is concerned, a most practical phase, and doubtless will result in establishing in that State a legalized Arbor Day. It is now decided that the 27th of November will be the day to commence the first public tree-planting in that State. Adolph Sutro has offered to furnish the 40,000 school children of San Francisco each with a tree to be planted on that day.

Experience has shown that tree culture in Nevada can be made a success. The enthusiasm that is in its incipency on that important step in California will ere long reach this State, and it would be well for our next Legislature to consider the best method of encouraging forestry and to establish an Arbor Day in Nevada.—Reno Gazette.

THE WASHOE PLATFORM.

The platform adopted by the Washoe Republican Convention last Saturday is particularly strong. It affirmed the principles of the party from 1856 to 1884; criticised the Democratic Administration for extravagance; for depriving Nevada of mail service, a mint, etc., commended Senator Jones and Congressmen Woodburn for their able and faithful services; criticised Senator Fair for never having put on the records of the Senate his protest against the war on silver or being present when the subject was discussed, expressing sympathy with Ireland and demanding the tariff of 1867 on wool, declaring for silver money, for the exclusion of Chinese labor and the abrogation of the Burlingame treaty.

It was half past three before the work of selecting candidates was reached. Mr. Beck put Wm. Thompson in nomination and Mr. Lindsay named J. F. Emmitt for State Senator.

Forty-eight votes were cast, of which three were blanks. Thompson got 25 and Emmitt the rest.

For Assemblymen H. M. Frost, D. S. Gallatin and T. G. Herman were unanimously nominated.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

The Democrats at their Convention, held at Elko last week, nominated a particularly weak ticket, with but few exceptions. The main contest was between Adams and Mason, for gubernatorial honors, and resulted in the nomination of the former, but not without leaving bitter feelings between the two contestants. Adams, is without doubt the weakest man the party could have nominated, and will be beaten by a large majority. J. H. McMillan, the nominee of the Convention for Congressman, though a good, honest fellow, with considerable ability, will make an easy fight for Woodburn. The fact of Cassidy drawing out of the Congressional contest, is significant, and means that the Fair sack is not to be opened this Fall by the untimely of Nevada.—Central Nevada.

—According to Neal Dow, St. John was paid $50 per night for his speeches in the late Maine campaign. He refused to speak at Augusta because the cash was not forthcoming. Of all the dirty frauds of the day, he seems to be the worst. He went to Maine to speak as a Prohibitionist. He only occasionally mentioned temperance. He simply abused Blaine and Frye.

—A short experience, the American Dairyman thinks, will suffice to convince all concerned that feeding skim milk to cows is a more profitable and fragrant way to dispose of it than giving it to pigs, or even to calves past three months old.
